

Application Guideline:

1. Program Outline

CAP is a collaborative education program among Japanese and international students based on PBL (Problem-Based Learning) and TBL (Team-Based Learning) provided by International Student Center at Kyushu University. Participants will gather online and the program will be conducted by lecturers of the University of Hawai'i at Manoa. This program will encourage the participants to seek solutions to common problems faced by countries in the Asia Pacific region through active discussion with university students from different cultural backgrounds.

2. Program Period

Tuesday, August 10 to Saturday, August 21, 2021 (10 days intensive lecture) (GMT+9/JST)

※ Classes will be conducted Tuesday through Saturday, from 9am/10am to 3pm/4pm, except Sunday and Monday in Japan time.

3. Program Fees

Participants from foreign universities must pay tuition fee JPY29,600 for Kyushu University and program fee USD700 for the University of Hawai'i at Manoa by designated due date.

4. Credit

Kyushu University will issue an official document showing completed program along with credits earned by CAP participants. Participants must fulfill 85% attendance for the program and give a final presentation. The official documents will be sent to each student by regular mail in September/October. Participants should consult their home universities about transferring credit and grades in advance.
